

Quantum-mechanical localization observables and modular theory

Gandalf Lechner
FAU Erlangen

In an approach based on logics and involution lattices, it will be explained how the well-known no-go results about relativistic localization operators in quantum mechanics lead to the concept of modular localization, and how this relates to effect-based observables.