

It is conjectured that the Brauer-Manin obstruction is the only obstruction to the Hasse principle for K3 surfaces. One of the simplest types of K3 surfaces are the diagonal quartic surfaces. I will discuss how often such a surface has a Brauer-Manin obstruction when the coefficients are ordered by height.